Investigating Photoshop and Photoshop Elements If you're going to invest in Adobe Photoshop (or purchase it if you don't already have it), you need to know how to work with it. Adobe Photoshop is a program that enables you to edit raster images in many ways. The most important tool in Photoshop is the adjustment tool. I cover it more in Chapter 5, but I want to cover it here as well because you may get to know your way around Photoshop a bit more if you study it a bit before you try to use it. You can use Photoshop Elements to create raster images and edit them in the same manner as Photoshop. Most people who use Photoshop Elements also use Photoshop, but it is an individual choice. Photoshop lets you use a lot of layers to accomplish different tasks. You can use one layer to adjust the color or contrast in an image, which is pretty easy, and then apply another layer to flip an object, cut it in two, or create a mask. In this book, I cover many of the tools you can use to create the layer effects and masks you can apply to a photo. You can create a mask and use it to turn the other parts of an image black or to do the reverse: turn all parts of the image transparent, showing the background behind the object.

Q: How to access 'My Data' (from ribbon) from a custom list view ribbon button? I am using Sharepoint 2010 and am trying to create a button in a custom list view (table) to access a set of data based on a custom field in the list. I have added a button (ribbon) to the custom list view, and have been able to access the text information from the data (via code behind). I would like to be able to access the data itself, i.e. get the results from running the query. The below snippet would be the start of it, but I haven't been able to get it to work. I have added a reference to Sharepoint.Library (com.microsoft.sharepoint) I have added using Microsoft.SharePoint; using Microsoft.SharePoint.Utilities; Any help would be greatly appreciated. The In-Game Dragon's Pearl During the "Game" route, Zelda can be seen running through the forest before a mountain, and at that point she picks up a shiny red harp. This is what she would be using to play the ocarina at that time in the game. 2. Link's Traveling Music Box If you know the scene in which the music box plays (in the "Music" route), you'll know that this is Link's traveling music box. When he's walking up to the Edge, she plays the song he's going to use to get through the Edge (the Crystal Caves) 3. A Link From The Past Ocarina This is an ocarina Link owns in A Link from the Past. It might be worth noting that Link doesn't actually know how to play this ocarina as the game states; he simply uses it for the music in the overworld. It's the same ocarina that runs up the wall in the Kinstones, where the player is forced to play a tune to exit the walls. 4. Ocarina of Time's Final Song While you're looking for a specific song to play
